

Dancing at shaadi

Garima Sharma

The wedding of London-based NRI 'Indian iron king' Pramod Agarwal's daughter Vinita with her fiancé Muquit just got bigger. Italian news websites report that Vinita's May 14 shaadi in Venice, which will see around 800 guests, is going to be a Bollywood extravaganza.

The venue – San Clemente island in Venice – will apparently see 72 hours of Bollywood inspired celebrations. But, it's the presence of Columbian singer

Shakira, Gotham Project and a show by former Cirque du Soleil director Franco Dragone that is creating the maximum buzz. According to news website Corriere del Veneto, they are performing on May 12 and May 13 at the wedding, and Shakira's performance will last around 45 minutes.

Apparently, Delhi-based set designer Sumant Jayakrishnan (who has worked on some of the top weddings and fashion shows in India), has also been involved in planning the wedding, celebration for which starts on May 12.
